

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An electronic apparatus includes an abnormality detector for detecting an abnormality when the abnormality occurs. An abnormality type
5 determination part determines the type of the abnormality detected by the abnormality detector. The abnormality notification part informs an external apparatus of the abnormality when the type of the abnormality determined by the abnormality type
10 determination part represents an abnormality that cannot be eliminated by a user of the electronic apparatus.